The Korean Lash Lift.

The lift every client is asking for.

FROM THE FOUNDER

When I first came across the Korean lash lift method, I knew it was going to change things. The results were unlike anything I'd seen from traditional lifting, more dramatic, more consistent, and honestly? My clients are obsessed as much as I am. It's now one of the most requested services in the industry, and I want to make sure you have everything you need to offer it with confidence.

The Lash Collection

01.

What is the Korean lash lift?

What is it?

The Korean lash lift is an advanced technique that delivers a more dramatic, defined lift than traditional methods.

It's the result clients screenshot and bring in as inspo.

The kind that makes them rebook before they've even left your chair.

The difference is in the approach, and once you understand it, you can't unsee it.

02. How does it work?

Traditional vs. Korean Lash Lift Method.

Traditional method

Places the lash and processes it directly. Results can be inconsistent on stubborn or coarse lash types, and lift can lack definition from the root.

Korean method

Softens the lash first, then sets it into position. Because the lash has been softened and directed, you're guiding it into shape - not forcing it. Cleaner placement, better alignment, more lift from the root.

03. What do you need?

Two products make this method work the way it's supposed to.

Ultra Flex Flat Shields

The flat surface holds lashes in a fully stretched, softened position, which is what delivers that root-to-tip lift clients can't stop talking about.

ElleeMix Powder

Your viscosity controller. Thickens your lifting lotion so it stays exactly where you place it, no slipping, no glue needed, total control. This is the piece most artists didn't know they were missing.

04. Not all solutions are the same.

Elleebana Profusion

Profusion is the only Elleebana solution safe for use with the Korean Lash Lift. If you have One Shot, please note this is not suitable for KLL. Make sure you're stocked with Profusion before getting started.

Elleebana ReGen

Elleebana's plant-based deep conditioner and a must-have for KLL. Because the solution is applied all the way to the tips, ReGen is essential for nourishing and protecting lashes from root to tip.

05. KLL Products options
